Johnson Cites Economy, Hints at Tax Cut

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson says record high employment and a four-year low in the jobless rate are strong evidence that the recent tax cut is stimulating the nation's economy and creating new jobs.

"I am greatly encouraged," Johnson said after the Labor Department announced Friday that unemployment dipped sharply to 5.1 per cent in May while employment climbed to an all-time high of 71.1 million.

But Johnson and the department cautioned that the situation could worsen this month as millions of youths leave classrooms and go job-hunting.

Johnson said the teen-age unemployment rate of about 16 per cent was "extremely serious." "We must and will make further progress in this area," he said.

He also plugged for his anti-poverty legislation before Congress, saying: "It will provide both training and job opportunities for our young people and thereby strike at one of the basic roots of poverty."

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the high jobless rate among youths was intensified because "more teen-agers are competing for a smaller number of jobs—low-skilled jobs."

The bureau said one month was not enough to predict a trend, but the May figures indicated the nation may finally be moving off the high unemployment level of 5.5 per cent or more for about seven years.

The 71.1 million jobholders in May was an increase of about 1.2 million from April and about 200,000 more than had been expected.

"This is a further heartening evidence that the tax cut is working as expected—and that its economic stimulus is being translated into new jobs," Johnson said in his statement.

Exile Leader Vows to Be in Cuba Soon

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Cuban exile anti-Castro leader Manuel Ray, captured by British authorities on a Caribbean island after missing an announced rendezvous with his Communist-ruled homeland, vowed today that he will be there soon.

"Sooner than most people think," said Ray. "It is a matter of days."

Ray and seven companions were reported heading for Miami after being fined $14 each on illegal firearms possession charges and ordered deported. "But my destination is Cuba," said Ray, 39, who defected from Fidel Castro after serving as his Havana underground leader in the revolution that toppled Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

As to why he missed his May 20 Cuban infiltration deadline, Ray said: "Cuba was placed on an emergency war footing at that time. Troops were mobilized. We have to use common sense. We must adjust plans to conditions."

Ray's statements were relayed by a spokesman for his organization, Revolutionary Junta in Miami. He said Bahamian authorities had forbidden him to speak to newsmen here. "I will miss my May 20 date by just a short time," said Ray. "Such a short time that from a practical standpoint it makes no difference."

British Rocket Finally Set Off

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—After four launch failures in two weeks, Britain's Blue Streak rocket was sent up for the first time today at the Woomera Range but fell 209 miles short of its 1,000-mile target.

The 90-ton rocket, which Britain abandoned as a strategic weapon in 1960, is being developed to supply the first stage of a rocket to send aloft satellites in 1967 or 1968 for the nine-nation European Space Research Organization.

Three-Year-Old Takes Train Ride

ELDORA, Iowa (AP)—Three-year-old David Larson, visiting here from California, climbed aboard a freight train while it was stopped near grandma's house Thursday and rode it six miles to Steamboat Rock, where he got off.

Then the train took off again and left him, stranded and in tears, in the strange Iowa town. Everything came out all right but David gave an anxious time to his mother, Mrs. Russell Larson, of Lancaster, Calif., and Hardin County Sheriff Lowell McCormick before he was found.

Reporters From State Honored

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP)—Two reporters for the Pine Bluff Commercial of Pine Bluff, Ark., are among 14 Southern journalists selected for excellence in reporting public affairs.

They are James Giltmer and Harry Pearson. Giltmer and Pearson will attend an expense-paid seminar with leading political scientists, public officials and journalists here June 21-27.

Philippines Ban Magazine

MANILA (AP)—The Philippine Postoffice has banned the current issue of Time magazine from the mails because it carries a reproduction of Goya's famous painting "The Naked Maja."

Acting Postmaster General Belarmino Navarro said that the painting is considered obscene under the postal law. Time published the reproduction in connection with the showing of the painting at the New York World's Fair.

Hussman Acquires Camden Station

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission approved Thursday acquisition of control of Radio Station KAMD, Camden, Ark., and Camden Radio, Inc., by Walter E. Hussman of Camden. The commission also approved the assignment of license to Radio Station KOKY, North Little Rock. McLendon Little Rock Broadcasting Co., to KOKY, Inc., for $225,000.

Just Can Part With That Pet

ROSEVILLE, Mich. (AP)—Mrs. and Mrs. Edgar J. Herz say they have too much heart to consider separation from their house pet—a 120-pound African lion named Caesar.

The 23-year-old newlyweds, who work as veterinary assistants, said Thursday they will sell their bungalow in this Detroit suburb if it bans lions as residents.

Roseville's City Council has ordered an ordinance up for adoption Tuesday that would ban wild animals as pets. Caesar is the reason for it.

Caesar has been both defanged and declawed, and Herz says he is "too much like a timid, dependent child for us to abandon him to strangers."

Leaders Will Not Try Stop Barry Moves

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two potential challengers of Sen. Barry Goldwater for the Republican presidential nomination—Richard M. Nixon and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania—have announced they will have no part of any stop-Goldwater drive.

Some Republican leaders who oppose Goldwater's candidacy have hoped that one or the other would leap into the GOP race, become the rallying point for a coalition and take the play from the Arizona conservative at the national convention.

But as Goldwater rested away from the political storm and strife and his bandwagon appeared to be taking on more steam, Nixon, the party's standard bearer in 1960, said on Long Island Thursday night he would not take part in any stop-Goldwater movement.

The former vice president said such a move "would so badly split the party that whoever got the nomination would find it wasn't worth anything at all."

In Harrisburg, Pa., Scranton said he would not be "part and parcel" of any movement to stop Goldwater and that after winning the California primary the senator appears to be the likely nominee.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller talked of the platform the Republicans will adopt at their convention next month and peppered the Johnson administration, charging "failure at home and abroad."

In Cleveland, Gov. Paul Fannin of Arizona, an early arrifal for the governors' conference which opens Saturday, predicted flatly that Goldwater will be nominated on the first ballot.

According to the latest Associated Press survey of delegates to the San Francisco convention, Goldwater can now count on a first-ballot total of 446—just 209 short of the 655 required for nomination.

Rockefeller, who lost the winner-take-all race with Goldwater for California's 86 votes, did not mention him in his address to a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner in Suffolk County's Huntington Station on Long Island.

The main point of his speech: The only hope for a Republican victory in November is for the party to "develop and stand firmly upon a platform which spells out with clarity the direction in which we as a nation must move."

Nixon, in Garden City to address a testimonial dinner for Rep. Steven B. Derounian, R-N.Y., told newsmen "You'll know in two weeks if a Goldwater 'blitz' will succeed."

The former vice president went on to suggest that if Goldwater is nominated for president, Republicans could arrange "perhaps the strongest" team by running Scranton with him.

But in Harrisburg, Scranton said he would turn down any vice presidential bid unless it came from convention delegates—rather than the presidential candidate—and was a genuine draft.

Father Addicts Sons to Dope

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A father was arrested Wednesday night and accused of addicting his two teen-age sons to an opium compound he extracted from a drug purchased at drug stores.

James B. Yeargin was charged with manufacturing narcotics and contributing to the delinquency of his sons age 14 and 15.

Ike Didn't Use Alternate Announcement

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's plans for the invasion of France 20 years ago today included an alternate announcement, for use if necessary:

"Our landings in the Cherbourg-Havre area have failed to gain a satisfactory foothold and I have withdrawn the troops."

The supreme Allied commander didn't need the precautionary penciled announcement he wrote the night before the attack and carried in his wallet that historic day.

The Allied force landed hampered through German defenses and began the push to the Reich.

The magazine Army, tells how Eisenhower, realizing how critical could be a Normandy landing in face of a huge German force and array of fortifications, wrote out the text of a communique in which he would have accepted responsibility for failure.

The article—"Would The Germans Have Won?"—is written by Martin Blumenson, civilian historian in the Army's Office of the Chief of Military History. It includes a photographic copy of Eisenhower's handwritten memo, with a few words scratched out by the general as he phrased the announcement he might have to use. After the opening sentence concerning failure and withdrawal of forces, Eisenhower wrote:

"My decision to attack at this time and place was based upon the best information available. The troops, the air and the Navy did all that bravery and devotion to duty could do. If any blame or fault attaches to the attempt, it is mine alone."

Blumenson writes that a number of things could have defeated the invasion:

Bad weather at the start could have continued and complicated the amphibious landing of the 150,000 troops the first 24 hours and upset airborne operations further. If that had happened, the "cross-channel attack would have foundered."

The Germans' 15th Army, strongest in Western Europe, was deployed for anti-invasion—but at the wrong place, thanks to a deceptive plan of the Allies.

"Had the Germans moved the 15th Army to Normandy instead of keeping it in the Pas-de-Calais (to the north and at the narrowest part of the English Channel) for an invasion that never came, they might well have won the battle of D-Day," Blumenson writes.

Adolf Hitler had conflicting advice from two top commanders: Field Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt, commander in Western Europe, said a strong force should be kept in reserve, to be moved to whatever point the Allied landing appeared.

But Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, army group commander in the invasion area, wanted the reserve force immediately behind the beaches because he feared a central reserve force would be unable to move to a menaced point due to Allied air power.

Schlitter hadn't decided which plan to accept when the landing started.

Hope Among 11 on Trade School List

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Education Commissioner Arch Ford said Wednesday that 11 cities have applied for state trade schools.

The deadline for requesting the schools is July 1, when funds to finance construction of the schools is to become available. Requests thus far are from Blytheville, Jonesboro, Harrison, Hope, Newport, Magnolia, Texarkana, Paragould and Walnut Ridge, Pocahontas and Ozark.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus said recently that he hoped about four such schools could be built in Arkansas this year, and perhaps have a total of 10 or 12 later.

Vocational schools are operating at Pine Bluff and Morrilton now.

Arkansas Group Reports Losses

DARDANELLE, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas Valley Industries, Inc. of Dardanelle, reported Thursday a net operating loss of $2,124,000 for the fiscal year ended March 28, and announced some changes in its corporate ownership.

Subject to approval of stockholders, John T. Oxley of Tulsa and Durbin Bond of Little Rock would purchase stock and be named to the board of directors.

Harold Snyder, founder and former president of AVI, gave Oxley and Bond an option to buy part of his stock and a proxy to vote all his shares.

Snyder was made board chairman of the integrated poultry raising and processing company in January when John R. Laughlin became president.

The operating loss came despite sales of $79 million, compared to sales of $56 million in the preceding fiscal year.

FHA Extends Financial Aid to Farmers

Farmers Home Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, extends credit to family farmers to help finance improvements in their farming operations and pay farm operating and family living costs.

Loans are made only to farmers who are unable to obtain credit from a bank, Production Credit Association, or other agricultural lender.

Who is Eligible
Any individual who operates a family farm on either a full or part-time basis is eligible for a loan from the Farmers Home Administration. However, he also must have a farm background, farming experience or training and the ability to manage a farming operation. The applicant need not presently be carrying on a full-time farming operation.

Use of a Farm Operating Loan
Following are some of the purposes for which a borrower may use an FHA operating loan:

Purchase of equipment for the farm and home, livestock, feed, seed, and fertilizer—refinancing debts—paying other costs of operating the farm, such as cash rent, purchase of fuel, cost of minor real estate improvements and building repairs, purchase of stock in cooperatives—financing family living costs, such as clothing purchases, insurance payments health care necessary food items, and others.

A borrower also may use an operating loan to finance farm forestry development and install a fish farming or income-producing recreation enterprise on his farm.

Amount of Loan
The amount an eligible applicant may borrow depends on the purpose for which the loan is to be used, the overall plan of farm and family living improvement worked out between him and the FHA county supervisor, and his ability to repay.

In no case may the operating loan debts of an individual borrower exceed $35,000.

Terms and Conditions
Interest rate on the farm operating loans is 5 percent of the unpaid principal. Loans for annual farm and home operating expenses are repaid from the year's income of the borrower, including nonfarm income. Loan for capital items, such as livestock, tractors, and other machinery and building improvement are repaid in annual installment over periods of one to seven years. The actual repayment period depends upon the type of capital items purchased and the borrower's repayment ability.

Security
Security for the loan varies with the purpose for which the loan was made. Security may be a first lien on livestock and equipment purchased or refinanced with the loan—a first lien on the year's crop if the loan is used to finance crop production—a mortgage on other chattel property—and in certain cases an assignment of farm income.

Management Assistance
In addition to the loan, FHA provides all of its borrowers with necessary farm and financial management assistance. "This assures that loan funds will be used to produce maximum benefits to the borrower in income."

According to the Sunday Magazine of the "St. Louis Post-Dispatch" for April 2, 1905, a trousseau for a bride of that day could be bought for $100 with careful planning and a little labor on the part of the bride-to-be.

The author of these words must have been a combination of Heloise, Dear Abby, and Emily Post of her day, but this reader would have passed her by after the first sentence which was "First of all, let me beg the bride-elect to make her own underwear. . . if you have the patience (it does not take a great deal), make it all by hand." Well, patience isn't the only attribute necessary for such undertaking. Some skill is needed, too.

The most attractive part of this idea was the total cost—$8.97 for three sets, consisting of three pieces, nightgown, chemise and drawers. A few other items listed such as stockings and undershirts came to $16.75. Up to now, everything has been as sensible as milk for a baby, including two gingham dresses to wear in the house at a cost of $1.60 for both.

Then, the sage says "something that is against all precedent. Have two pretty wrappers or negligees. Have one always fresh and pretty—and clean. Wear it at the breakfast table; it is a very simple matter to change into a working dress when HE leaves the house. But while he is there, look your prettiest. And, of all things in the world, there is nothing more becoming to a woman than these pretty, graceful negligees. Advice along these lines, I know, will be objected to by many who believe that wrappers are sinful and untidy. But they forget this thing—that it is the person who is untidy, not the dress." She, then, advises making two negligees and a bathrobe without too much elaborate trimming for the sum of $6.20.

Even Practical Polly (or whatever her name was) doesn't suggest doing anything but buy ready-made shoes. After all, she explains footgear is not nearly so expensive as it used to be. For $8.50 you could buy a pair of shoes, a pair of slippers, a pair of house slippers, and a pair of bath slippers. Since a lady and gloves were usually thought of together, three pairs were recommended at $1 a pair! Two of these were for everyday usage, but the white kid ones were something special and really quite a buy at $1.

And now, the most important item of all—the wedding dress. "For the spring bride, something thin and soft will be pretty and will do you best in the summer months." Such a dress could be purchased "ready to put together" for $15. It was divulged that "it is the best possible luck to work on your own wedding dress."

Probably the most expensive items in proportion to the others were three hats which cost $2.50 each, or $7.50 for all three. A tailor-made coat and skirt for $20 was recommended with "blue chevrot" as the suggested material. Though this cost more than the wedding dress, after all it would be worn much more. "It will look well as long as there is a thread of it left."

With it three blouse s were suggested, totaling $10. A simple mohair walking skirt for $5 uses up all but $5.48 of the original $100. "For that you can buy a belt or two, some stockings and a veil." (Stocks, we are told, were ties which gave a finishing touch to many high-collared garments.)

Thus ends the "Complete Inventory of the Trousseau of a Bride" with suggestions for making or buying everything needed from bonnet to boots.

Suffrage Worker Dies at Age of 94

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Miss Katharine Seymour Day, former suffragette who was largely responsible for preserving Mark Twain's Hartford home, died Thursday in her home—a former residence of Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Miss Day, 94, was descended from Thomas Hooker, the Congregational clergyman who was among the founding fathers of Hartford. She also was related to the famed Beecher family.

During her suffragette days she once rode on horseback from house to house to rally support for women's voting rights.

Rockefeller Plans Another Short Tour

LITTLE ROCK (AP) Winthrop Rockefeller the Republican candidate for governor, said Wednesday, he would spend a four-day weekend meeting voters in Sharp, Izard and Fulton counties.

The GOP national committee-man said he was pleased with his first such venture—to Little River County last week.

A Rockefeller aide said the candidate does not consider these trips part of his campaign. "He's just meeting people and listening to their problems," he said.

Rockefeller will be in St. County on Friday, in Desha County on Saturday, and at Russellville in Pope County Sunday night.

Monday, he will go to Stone, Searcy and Newton counties.

Amendments Delay Rights Showdown

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders restrained from filing a petition to end the 72-day civil rights debate pending the outcome today of a proposal to vote on three important amendments early next week.

The agreement was advanced late Friday by Republicans. But action was deferred overnight at the urging of Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Southern forces.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said if the agreement is accepted it may shorten the marathon debate.

But should the agreement—which requires unanimous consent—be rejected, he added, a petition to invoke the Senate's debate-limiting closure rule will be filed as previously planned.

If there is no agreement and the closure petition is filed today it would automatically come to a vote one hour after the Senate convenes Tuesday. Adoption of closure would require a two-thirds majority, or 67 votes if all 100 senators vote. Indications are that the vote would be extremely close.

The move to get a vote on three amendments to the bill before a closure showdown was initiated by a group of Republicans led by Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, chairman of the Senate's GOP Policy Committee.

In the long battle over the civil rights bill, Hickenlooper has not seen eye to eye with Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican floor leader who is the chief architect of a proposed substitute for the House-passed bill.

The substitute, aimed at winning more support for the bill, has the support of Mansfield and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the bill's floor manager, and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. But it does not go as far in modifying the measure as some Republicans would like.

Under Hickenlooper's request—which any one senator could block—the Senate would vote Tuesday morning on an amendment to provide for jury trials in criminal contempt cases involving civil rights other than those involving injunctions against discriminatory denial of voting rights.

Also up for a vote later Tuesday would be amendments to the section of the bill prohibiting discrimination in employment and to a section designed to speed up school desegregation.

Hickenlooper said he was speaking for about 20 of the 33 Republican senators in proposing that three amendments be acted on before any attempt to cut off the debate.

Some of the senators in this group, including Hickenlooper, have refused to commit themselves publicly to vote for closure under which each senator's speaking time on the bill and all amendments would be limited to one hour. Senate leaders need all the Republican votes they can get in order to choke off the debate and clear the way for balloting on the bill itself.

Target of Korean Riots Quits Post

By ROBERT LIU

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Kim Chong-pil, a chief target of the mounting student demonstrations in South Korea, resigned today as chairman of President Chung Hee Park's ruling Democratic Republican party.

Park accepted Kim's resignation in an effort to quiet the swelling public discontent. He had rejected a resignation from Kim over the weekend.

Kim, 37, was Park's righthand man, former head of the secret police and a key plotter in the 1961 military coup that brought Park into power.

Park also ordered all colleges and universities in the country closed until July 4, a day before the start of the two-month summer vacation. Eighty-five schools with a total enrollment of 125,000 are affected. Leading universities had been the breeding ground for the riotous demonstrations which this week have raised the gravest challenge so far to Park's regime.

As a leader in recent negotiations to restore normal relations with Japan, Korea's old enemy, Kim was a particular object of student wrath. The current wave of student unrest began last March to protest the talks with Japan.

A spokesman said Park expressed appreciation for Kim's work as party chairman when he called at the presidential mansion this afternoon to offer his resignation.

Seoul remained quiet under martial law. But despite a government threat to extend martial law over the whole country, students demonstrated in five cities today. The worst outbreak occurred in Pusan, South Korea's second largest city. Police resorted to tear gas for the first time in Pusan to break up a gathering of students at Donga University.

Later, 1,000 rock-throwing students laid siege to a police station until reinforcements arrived.

A total of 2,500 high school students staged antigovernment demonstrations in Kimchon, Chongju and Kwangju.

In Taegu, 17 law student scioned a hunger strike they began Thursday demanding the end of military rule in Seoul and the release of students arrested in earlier demonstrations.

World News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—Danish teen-agers are just like those in Britain and the United States. They go crazy when the Beatles hit town.

The mop-top performers from England put on a show in Copenhagen Thursday and touched off one of the most hysterical demonstrations ever witnessed in the Danish capital.

Shrieking girls tried to storm the stage as the Beatles went into their act. Ushers had to drag the girls back to their seats.

Police brought dogs to subdue screamers who milled about outside the concert hall.

Youthful enthusiasm was not lessened by the absence of ailing drummer Ringo Starr. Starr, 23, is being treated for tonsillitis and laryngitis. A substitute drummer accompanied the Beatles.

MANILA (AP) — Indonesian President Sukarno arrived in Manila today for a three-day visit before going to Tokyo for a projected conference with Malaysian Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman and Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal.

Sukarno and Macapagal are expected to try to iron out differences with Malaysia which have left the proposed summit parley in doubt.

TOKYO (AP)—Red China reported today that another group of Chinese technicians have left Mongolia for home, bringing the total departures to 350. At one time about 12,000 were in Mongolia.

The report by the New China News Agency gave no indication the departure was the result of a worsening of Chinese-Mongolian relations.

Mongolia supports Soviet Premier Khrushchev's peaceful co-existence policy and opposes Peking's policy of violent revolution.

Four Jailed in Soybean Swindle

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The FBI said today a soybean swindle it cracked with the arrest of four Missouri men may involve many firms in Arkansas and into other states.

An FBI spokesman said calls were coming in from other seed dealers who said they had been swindled.

The first investigation showed that 10,000 bushels of beans worth more than $27,000 were secured by the men, said FBI Special Agent Roy K. Moore.

But the figure went up to more than $31,451 as other firms reported, another FBI man said.

Charged with fraud by wire (telephone) in the case were Terry Maurice Dabbs, 28; Joe Jerry Franklin, 31; James Abner Ashcraft, 32, all of Steele, Mo.; and Wyatt Lloyd Neal, 39, of Holland, Mo.

They were arraigned in Jackson, Mo. Neal's bond was $1,000, the others $5,000 each.

"We're not through with the investigation," said the agent today. "It appears that quite a few have been swindled. We have some in Illinois and Kentucky."

The FBI said the men ordered seed soybeans over the telephone on credit, did not pay for them, and resold them for a low price.

Robert L. Dortch, whose Scott, Ark., firm shipped 12 truckloads of soybeans valued at $24,599 from May 15 to June 1, said he expected to recover 60 to 65 per cent of his loss—in beans or money.

Bogard Grain and Seed Co. of Stuttgart shipped two loads of soybeans valued at $4,402 and Riveland Seed Co. of Stuttgart shipped one load valued at $2,450, the FBI said. Names of others who said they were swindled were not released pending further investigation.

FBI agents and Missouri authorities made the arrests at Steele and confiscated two trucks of soybeans at Caruthersville. The FBI said Dabbs and Franklin operated under the name of the Boot Heel Farmers Supply at Caruthersville. Ashcraft under the name of Farmers Cooperative Association of Steele, and Neal operated a farm at Holland.

A Busy Winter

Morehead, Ky. (AP) — Steve Hamilton, New York Yankee Southpaw relief pitcher, is looking forward to a busy winter.

Hamilton will be an instructor in health and physical education at Morehead State College.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Ethiopian Ambassador Abate Agede, who was shot twice by his chauffeur Thursday, was reported out of danger today.

Agede, 40, underwent eight hours of surgery for wounds in the shoulder and abdomen.

Police held the chauffeur, Polish-born Vincent Krupsky, 61, on suspicion of attempted manslaughter. But the case may raise complications because the shooting during an argument occurred inside the embassy, which technically is foreign territory.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — When a woman's role that demands a flood of tears turns up in a television dramatic series, one of the first names that pops into a director's mind is Joan Hackett.

Joan, in spite of her ability to produce big, beautiful sad tears on cue, is a happy, ambitious and carefree young woman.

Joan will be weeping again tonight, in the NBC Bob Hope Theatre program, "Echo of Evil," but although slightly bored with her specialty, she enjoyed the part.

"I play a drug addict who becomes what I suppose you call a lady of the evening," she said. "It isn't a very big part, but it's pretty good, aside from the tears. And after all the nuns I've played, the character — not nice — is in an area in which I need to stretch myself. It is very important for an actress to keep all her skills limber."

Her profitable and convincing weeping really started after the sudden end of what started out as a glorious television romance. Originally she was cast as the fiancée of the younger lawyer in CBS' "Defenders." But after a couple of episodes had been shot of the then-new series, it was decided that a permanent romance would restrict the activities of character Kenneth Preston, so she disappeared with a stroke of the writer's pen.

Most interesting weekend program is tonight's 90-minute CBS documentary with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower recalling, during a return to the scene, the D-Day invasion of France on the eve of the 20th anniversary.

"DEAR ABBY"

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: There is this real good-looking guy I'll call "J." I have seen him around for about a year, but I never thought I ever had a chance with him. Well, all of a sudden "J" called me up and asked me for a date. He is 21 and I am 18, but I'm very mature for my age. On our first date we got along swell. "J" is the kind of guy you can get acquainted with real fast. He told me he loved me, and said that maybe he would ask me to go steady, but first I had to "prove my love" (if you know what I mean). How can I hold him without proving my love? I would give my right arm to get this guy.

FALLING IN LOVE

Dear Falling: Lose him. He's not worth your right arm. What he needs is a right hook!

Dear Abby: What do you think of a husband who goes fishing every Mother's Day and leaves his wife alone with the children? This has been going on for as long as I can remember. I finally got fed up this year and asked him what was the big idea leaving me every Mother's Day, and he said, "I just can't face this town on Mother's Day, because my Mother is dead and I have to do something to give me a lift."

Not Lifted in Roanoke

Dear Not: If you wait for the obvious to occur to some men you will wait a long time. It's high time it occurred to YOU to tell that someone besides himself could use a lift.

Dear Abby: I asked my girl what she wanted for her birthday and she said, "Give me a big colored picture of yourself in a real nice frame." Like a dope I had some pictures taken which cost me 22 bucks. Then I got a frame which set me back another 12 bucks. We broke up last week and this girl sent my picture back, but she kept the frame. I think she should have given me the whole works. What do you think?

SEYMOUR

Dear Seymour: You got the "works" all right. But you did GIVE her the picture and the frame as a gift, so it all belongs to her. (Maybe she's framing somebody else now.)

at Morehead (Ky.) State College and also will be an assistant basketball coach.

Four Jailed in Soybean Swindle

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The FBI said today a soybean swindle it cracked with the arrest of four Missouri men may involve many firms in Arkansas and into other states.

An FBI spokesman said calls were coming in from other seed dealers who said they had been swindled.

The first investigation showed that 10,000 bushels of beans worth more than $27,000 were secured by the men, said FBI Special Agent Roy K. Moore.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: I just read the letter signed "TWENTY-TWO AND MISERABLE." She was the young bride whose husband informed her shortly after their marriage that he had spent $500 on an investigation of her past, and took great pleasure in throwing up to her a "mistake" she made.

Tell her to ask her husband what a $500 investigation of HIS past would have turned up. It's strange how, when a girl makes a mistake, it's a crime, but when a man makes the same mistake 30 or 40 times, it's just an incident. When I became engaged, my husband asked me if I was "pure." I told him I was just as "pure" as he was, and he married me anyway.

Accuses the Governor of Mudslinging

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Joe Hubbard, a Democratic candidate for governor, today accused Gov. Orval E. Faubus of "the worst kind of mudslinging" because of a remark Faubus made about Winthrop Rockefeller, the Republican candidate.

Faubus said in a talk at Arkansas Boys State Thursday that "some seem to have forgotten what people thought was the real reason for (Rockefeller's) coming (to Arkansas) in the beginning, that Arkansas had a 90-day divorce law."

"Speaking before a portion of the cream of Arkansas youth, our Arkansas governor stopped almost as low as he did at the Greers Ferry Dam dedication when he took an unwarranted swipe at our late Democratic President, John F. Kennedy," Hubbard said in a statement telephoned to news media.

Plant Strike May Force a Shutdown

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Gov. George Romney was told today by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley that he has legal power to shut down a second time the Essex Wire Corp. plant at Hillsdale, Mich., where National Guardsmen are on the alert in a violence-punctuated strike now 98 days old.

Kelley cited a state law under which Romney declared a state of public emergency in Hillsdale and said that developments since have not altered Romney's authority.

In calling out troops in the wake of a near riot a week ago, Romney shut the struck plant. But, with what he termed restoration of law and order.

Romney summoned representatives of the striking International Union of Electrical Workers and the company Thursday to renew negotiations.

When a 10-hour session broke up at 2:30 a.m. today, Malcolm R. Lovell Jr., chairman of the State Labor Mediation Board, said he was hopeful of finishing bargaining today or Saturday. Previously Romney - pressured negotiations broke down Tuesday.

"Misrepresenting the truth, he (Faubus) chose to indulge in the worst form of mudslinging by attacking (Rockefeller's) personal motives."

Rockefeller moved to Arkansas in 1953 while a divorce from his first wife, Mrs. Barbara Sears Rockefeller, was pending. She divorced him in Nevada and Arkansas' 90-day law never figured in the case.

"This technique of personality assassination is distasteful to the great majority of Arkansas Democrats," Hubbard said. "We intend to fight Mr. Rockefeller on the record of his party and his proposed platform."

Hubbard said Thursday that the ban on whippings at the state penitentiary, announced by the Pardons and Paroles Board Wednesday was a political maneuver.

FHA Extends

Increased farm income and improved family living. Whenever practical the borrower and FHA A supervisor work out a long-range farming plan, with specific farm, financial and family living goals.

Farmers Assisted

Following are the types of borrowers who are using FHA operating loan credit to gain a higher income for their families: Young farmers needing capital to acquire the livestock and equipment to assume the operations of retiring farmers.

Established farmers needing new or reconditioned machinery to increase their efficiency on land they own or rent.

Farmers whose net incomes have been slipping in recent years because they are using outmoded methods of production or equipment and require a general modernization of their farming.

Farmers who receive income from off-farm work in factories, service establishments, the construction industry, or other activities and need credit to improve their farming operations.

Families, often semi-retired or handicapped, on subsistence type farms who need a small operating loan plus some guidance to increase their incomes, produce and conserve more of the food they need, and meet expenses.

Where to Apply

An FHA office serves every farming and other rural county in the nation, either on a full or part-time basis. The address and phone number of the Farmers Home Administration office serving Hempstead County is: 101 Courthouse, Hope, Arkansas, Prospect 7-5543.

The Story: After receiving evasive answers from Johnny Clark, Milo March receives a warning from his bodyguard, Jerry Dell. March is searching for Thomas Rako, who has been missing and on whom a million dollars worth of insurance will have to be paid unless he is found.

XII

There was one newspaperman in Washington I knew slightly. He was George Macklin, a political columnist on the Washington Ledger. I called the paper and asked for him. He came on a minute later.

"This is Milo March," I said. "I met you about a year ago in New York City."

"March?" he said. "You're the insurance investigator aren't you? A friend of Williams of the Bulletin?"

"Right. I hope you don't mind me calling you?"

"Not at all." His voice sounded warmer. "I remember now. You and Williams and I pub-crawled all over town. Are you in Washington?"

"Yes. Just for a day or two," I said. "In the meantime, I was wondering if you could give me some information."

"What kind?"

"I'm trying to locate Robert Salem. He used to be the counsel for the House committee on labor unions—about seven years ago."

"I remember." His voice was sharper, as though he sensed there might be something in it for him. "He works in Commerce now. Chief counsel. A story in it?"

"There might be, but you'd have to sit on it for a while."

"How about lunch at 12:30?"

"Fine."

"Meet me at the Lido. It's a little restaurant four blocks south of the press club."

"I'll be there."

I looked up the number of the Department of Commerce and called it.

"I'd like to speak to Mr. Salem," I said.

"Who's calling, please?"

"My name is March, but I'm afraid it won't mean anything to him about the work he was doing seven years ago."

About two minutes went by and then Salem himself came on.

"This is Robert Salem. Who did you say you were?"

"My name is Milo March. I represent the Intercontinental Insurance Company. I'd like to talk to you for a few minutes."

"What about?"

"Thomas Rako."

There was a few seconds of silence. "All right," he said crisply. "Be here in 30 minutes."

I went out and hailed a taxi. I told the driver to take me to the Department of Commerce. We had driven five or six blocks when I discovered that there was a car following my cab. It meant that Johnny Clark was more concerned than he'd pretended to be.

We reached the Commerce Building and after a few false starts I found Salem's office. I had to wait about 10 minutes and then I was shown into his room. I was greeted by a thin, tense-looking young man, younger than I was. I'd forgotten how very young he'd been when he was with the committee. He gave me a brisk handshake and motioned me to a chair.

"What's your interest in Rako?" he asked.

"I'm interested in finding him. He smiled thinly. "A little late isn't it?"

In 30 days Rako can be declared legally dead and the insurance company has to shell out one million dollars. So they pushed the panic button."

He smiled again. "You think When today's negotiations recess was taken, Lovell told news-men that "we're meeting in an atmosphere that is cordial and constructive. Most minor issues have been cleaned up. We're down to the major issues."

what the FBI couldn't do in almost seven years?"

"Maybe. I work a little differently, and sometimes it pays off."

"What do you want to know?"

"As much as we can cram into the time you're giving me."

"Off the record I think one of two things happened to Rako. Either Johnny Clark had him killed or helped Rako get away. I can't prove it. Neither can the Justice department."

"Any idea where he went?"

Salem shook his head. "The trail started and ended at the Peraton Hotel. That day when the committee recessed, Rako, went from the hearing room to the Carrier Workers' headquarters. He was there about an hour, then left. An hour after that, he showed up at the hotel carrying some packages which apparently contained clothing, and went to his room."

"A little later he ordered dinner from room service. So far as we can find out, nothing has been heard of Rako since then. When he didn't show up the next morning he was sent for. The dinner and drink were still in his room, untouched. All of Rako's clothes were still there. But he wasn't."

Canadian Jailed on Check Charge

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arthur Latulippe, 53, a Canadian citizen who was arrested at Jonesboro April 24 on bad check charges, pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court Wednesday on five counts of forgery.

Judge J. Smith Henley delayed sentencing after Latulippe's attorney, Gary Eubanks, said the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service has begun proceedings to deport Latulippe.

Eubanks said a deportation hearing would be held June 17 at the Pulaski County jail where Latulippe has been held since his arrest.

Immigration Service records show Latulippe was admitted to this country at Seattle in 1950 "for a period not to exceed six months" but that he never returned to Canada.

Henley could order Latulippe to serve a prison sentence before he is deported or he might suspend the sentence on agreement from Latulippe never to return to this country.

Cunningham said Latulippe worked as a mechanic in California until he started forging checks in 1961. Cunningham said Latulippe had passed 190 forged checks at banks in 52 cities in 19 states.

Cunningham said Latulippe says he obtained $20,000 to $25,000 from his forgery operations.

Conway County Paper Is Sold

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — Members of the Conway County Better Government League have purchased the Perry County News and the Morrilton Democrat, weekly newspapers.

Transportation Properties, Inc., of Little Rock, sold the papers for an undisclosed sum.

Gene Wirges formerly edited the Democrat, but lost it to transportation properties, which foreclosed on debts owed it by Wirges.

This came after libel judgments totaling $275,000 were awarded against Wirges.

Gerald Laux, owner of a chain of shoe store and a league member, is president of the new corporation which owns the papers-Conway County Press, Inc.

It was not announced who would be named editor of the paper. The league backed Wirges in his campaigns against Sheriff Marlin Hawkins of Conway County.

Suit Dismissal Denied by Court

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal judge on Wednesday denied a motion by 20th Century-Fox studios for dismissal of a suit brought by actress Elizabeth Taylor and ex-husband Eddie Fisher over proceeds from the movie "Cleopatra."

Miss Taylor and Fisher own 55 per cent of MCL, a Swiss corporation, which in turn owns 35 per cent of the $40 million movie. The firm's attorneys have asked that all prints and negatives of the film be placed in receivership, contending distribution has been mismanaged.

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

and get a spiritual lift for the whole week

This Page Is Published With The Hope It Will Focus The Attention Of Our People On The Churches Of This Area

ONLY THE BEGINNING

For all those who truly seek wisdom this is "Only The Beginning" time. It's time for rewards but also time for setting the sails to cope with the high winds ahead. Commencement to serious minds can be little less than frightening. Have these young people learned well to do their duty? Are they qualified to accept prosperity? Are they fortified for adversity? Have they learned about God? If they have not learned these things well, then they have learned but little. Opportunities are in abundance for those who are determined. Commencement is only the first round on a ladder that reaches to the stars for all who will but apply themselves. Then, young graduates, be of great faith and unlimited perseverance. For He said you have only "to seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you."

You In The Church
The Church Is You
— form a combination
for good. Every man, woman and child needs
the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us
support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

THE CHURCHES OF THIS COMMUNITY ARE THE ONLY INSTITUTIONS WHICH HAVE AS THEIR MAIN FUNCTION, THE TRANSFORMING OF HUMAN LIVES. THEY ARE THE SIGN BOARDS POINTING THE WAY TO GOD.

Sponsors of these messages urge faithful church support. Through these pages the appeal is for all men to stand up and be counted . . . to combat Communism on all fronts . . . to be faithful to God.

OUR PASTORS ARE GOD'S SERVANTS WHO CALL THE SIGNALS AGAINST THE ORGANIZED FORCES OF EVIL. THEY INVITE YOU TO ENLIST ON THE SIDE FOR GOD . . .

The Ninety and Nine Were Safe; -- But One!?
